ABOUT ME

My name is Jesús, I'm a web development student from Córdoba, Spain. Since I was a child I have been into computers and video games till I discovered programming. I have been learning React and NodeJs on my own, which reinforced my passion. I'm curious and very persistent person. Continuously working on personal projects & studying. I have no problems using git flow and working on team. I also like other things besides programming such as gaming, traveling, trekking and video editing.
